Nine

by Mark Horton

3NT has always been a popular contract, perhaps in part because you only require nine tricks to be successful. Often depicted as a race between declarer and the defenders the reality is that as long as you get up to the required number it makes no difference whether you take the first nine tricks or the last nine.

The first round of the Swiss Final in the OCBL Open Teams contained a number of deals on which 3NT was the predestined contract. As always, the outcome can often turn on the opening lead.

| | ♠ K 7 5♡ Q 4 3♢ A K J♣ 8 7 5 4 | |

With 29 points between the two hands you might expect nine tricks to be easy, but on this occasion you might have to work for them.

3NT was reached at every table.

Here South led the ♠5 and declarer ducked North's queen, won the next spade with the king and played the ♣Q for the king and ace. A diamond to the jack lost and South exited with a spade, setting up a fifth trick for the defence.

That scenario was repeated in the match between Moss and Wilson - 3NT making on a diamond lead and going down on a spade lead. It also made at the other four tables, South leading a red suit which made life easy for declarer.

It does not prove much, but it vindicates the currently popular practice of making passive leads against notrump contracts.

2NT Minors

Before we discuss the play, how would you treat a double of 2♠ by West? Given that you did not bid on the previous round perhaps it should show this type of hand?

Anyway, South leads the ♡10 against your 3NT. How should you play?

The first thing to appreciate is that you have only one entry to dummy.

You know North started with five hearts headed by the KQ.

If North does not have the ♢Q you have little chance s the defenders will surely score three hearts and two diamonds.

If North has the ♢AQ ♡KQ then he may have the ♣K, but it is also possible that it will be with South.

Have you made your decision?

The winning line is to take dummy's ♡A immediately and play the ♢9. If it holds you can even afford to play a second diamond, leaving dummy's spades 'lonely on a rock' as Reese would have said. Let's say North takes the ♢9 with the ace and plays three rounds of hearts. You win with the jack, cash the ♣A and then play a club to dummy's queen.

It may appear that you can achieve the same result by ducking the opening lead in dummy, but then North can also duck forcing you to win with the jack. Now whatever you do the defenders will take five tricks.

This was the full deal:

If South had been able to win with the queen he could then have returned the ♠J and the contract would have been two down. However, it was declarer who won and he could draw trumps. When North pitched the ♢10 declarer had two overtricks, +670 and 14 IMPs.

Only the Rueful Rabbit could defeat 3♣ doubled - he would inadvertently lead a low heart at trick one. South puts in the seven and declarer wins with the queen and plays a club. North wins and under leads his hearts for a second time allowing South to win and switch to the ♠J. Declarer can win in dummy and play diamonds but South ruffs the second round.

West led the ♠3 and when East put in the nine declarer won with the queen and played a heart to the jack followed by a club for the eight, king and ace.

The spade return went to the jack and king and dummy took the next round of the suit with the ace. A club to the ten allowed declarer to cash three more tricks in the suit for +90.

North led the ♢8 for the jack, queen and king and declarer played a heart to dummy's ace, ruffed a heart, played a diamond to the ace, ruffed a heart, ruffed a diamond, played a club to the ace and ruffed a diamond with the ♠K.

When he played a heart South ruffed in with the ♠Q but declarer could claim nine tricks, +150 and 6 IMPs which put Ireland ahead by 1.1 - the first time they had led since board 5.

On the next deal NS held

On Board 37 Denmark gained an IMP which meant they trailed by 0.1!

North led the ♠K and South followed with the five as declarer won with the ace. A heart to the ace was followed by the jack and North won with the queen and continued with the ♠J.

Declarer ruffed, and perhaps rubbing his lucky shamrock, played a heart.

South won and played a spade, but declarer ruffed and carefully played the ♣10 to dummy's queen.

He could finesse on the way back, +420.

On this final deal both sides bid 1♢-1♡-1NT and East led a spade for the two, nine and king. Declarer played a heart to dummy and with East showing three cards in the suit West naturally ducked and declarer could finesse against West's ♣Q and emerge with six tricks for another flat board.

Counter intuitively, if West wins the first heart and switches to a diamond declarer should go two down as East wins and puts West in with a spade to lead the ♢J.

Ireland had survived the last three deals and secured a memorable victory by perhaps the smallest possible margin.

On Friday evenings we have developed the habit of catching up with friends over a glass or two of Champagne via Zoom. This has been known to interfere with the production of the odd article for the Journal, but hopefully does not result in any loss of quality. You can judge for yourselves as we take a look at the match between Hunisr and Moss in the second round of the OCBL Open Teams Swiss Final.
